THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY FOR FLUORIDE RESEARCH INC.

The International Society for Fluoride Research (ISFR) was founded in 1966 at a meeting in Detroit of the American Society for Fluoride Research to promote the sharing of scientific information on all aspects of inorganic and organic fluorides. This is done by publication of the peer-reviewed quarterly journal Fluoride and the sponsoring of international conferences. The first ISFR conference was held in Frankfurt am Main, Germany in 1967 and subsequent conferences have been held in Spain, Austria, the Netherlands, England, the United States of America, Switzerland, India, Japan, Hungary, the People’s Republic of China, Poland, New Zealand, Canada, Iran, and Thailand.

The next conference, the 36th, will be hosted by Dr Javed Ahsan Quadri, All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, India, will host the following Conference in New Delhi, India, in 2024.

Fluoride is an open access journal available free on the internet at www.fluorideresearch.online, in full text without an embargo period. No article processing or submission charges are made. Subscription to Fluoride in hardcopy and attendance at the conferences are welcomed for all interested in fluoride research. Bona fide fluoride researchers are invited to apply for membership of the ISFR.

The Society does not hold an official position on issues such as water fluoridation but encourages, through its conferences, and the publication of papers, commentaries, and letters to the editor, a critical examination of the scientific basis of the views which are held by individuals and organizations.

Instructions to authors: Manuscripts, including reports of original research, papers presented at ISFR conferences, research reviews, discussion papers, and letters to the editor, are accepted for publication after appropriate evaluation and recommendation by qualified reviewers. The initial version of the manuscript, double-spaced throughout with wide margins, should be submitted, as a Word attachment by E-mail, to the relevant Regional Editor or, when a Regional Editor has still to be appointed for the countries of residence of the authors, to the Editor-in-Chief. The E-mail addresses for these editors are given in the masthead of the Table of Contents on page i. Detailed instructions for preparing papers are at www.fluorideresearch.online and in Fluoride 2013;46(1):40-8. These instructions should be followed meticulously to avoid publication delays. The Editorial Officers of Fluoride strongly support the maintenance of the highest standards of animal care and the control of discomforts to animals in research. Authors must indicate whether their institutional and national guidelines for the care and use of laboratory animals were followed. When reporting experiments on human subjects, authors should indicate whether the procedures followed were in accordance with the ethical standards of the responsible committee on human experimentation (institutional and national) and with the Helsinki Declaration of 1964, as revised in 2013, available from: https://www.wma.net/policies-post/wma-declaration-of-helsinki-ethical-principles-for-medical-research-involving-human-subjects/. Fluoride follows the recommendations of the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE), and their Recommendations for the conduct, reporting, editing, and publication of scholarly work in medical journals, updated December 2013, and the ICMJE form for disclosure of potential conflicts of interest are available from: www.icmje.org. The recommendations describe author responsibilities for conflicts of interest, human and animal rights, informed consent, and ethical policies. The ICMJE conflict of interest disclosure form should be downloaded, completed electronically by each author, and then submitted to Fluoride with the manuscript. Authors should state if the ICMJE recommendations have been followed. For observational studies in epidemiology, authors might consider using the guidelines in the STROBE statement. von Elm E, Altman DG, Egger M, Pocock SJ, Gøtzsche PC, Vandenbroucke JP. The strengthening the reporting of observational studies in epidemiology (STROBE) statement: guidelines for reporting observational studies. Epidemiology 2007;18(6):800-4. Available from: http://journals.lww.com/epidem/pages/articleviewer.aspx?year=2007&issue=11000&article=00027&type=abstract.

Ethical responsibilities and scientific misconduct: The Editorial Officers of Fluoride recommend that authors study the information for authors on ethical responsibilities and scientific misconduct published by Elsevier and available, in section 3.6 on ethics in the pdf file Understanding the publishing process: how to publish in scholarly journals, the link for which is in section 2 on Prepare your paper for submission, in Publishing with Elsevier: step-by-step, available from: https://www.elsevier.com/authors/journal-authors/submityourpaper. The material covers the areas of duplicate submission, research fraud including fabrication (making up research data) and falsification (manipulation of existing research data, tables, or images), plagiarism (passing off another’s work or idea as your own), authorship disputes (deliberately misrepresenting a scientist’s relationship to their work on a published paper), conflict of interest (nondisclosure to the publication that you have a direct or indirect conflict that prevents you from being unbiased in your paper), salami slicing (the 'slicing' of research that would form one meaningful paper into several different papers), and the improper use of humans or animals in research including absent or inadequate informed consent of human subjects, or maltreatment of laboratory animals, with articles available in English, Spanish, Chinese, and Japanese.

Complimentary copies: Donors wishing to fund gift copies, which will be suitably inscribed, are invited to contact Dr Spittle.
